We are the cost effective technical specialists for outdoor events.

Over the past 30 years we have been market leaders in supplying audio visual and technical services for indoor corporate events. Since 2004 we have also been actively involved in outdoor events, introducing our technical skills, attention to detail and cost effective service to this sector. We have always been Sound specialists and we provide systems for covering large events, whether it's for commentaries and safety announcements or line array systems up to 40Kw for concerts and music productions. We hold a vast range of equipment to cover every eventuality! Our sound engineering abilities also cover such areas as noise nuisance and clarity on difficult sites.

Our new fleet of Commentary Units provide technical areas and commentary positions for all types of events. Our "double decker" units are the highest specification available, offering comfort and elevated 360° views.

Audio Visual - Multiple large screens, lighting and sound systems are all an important part of creating a contemporary environment for hospitality suites. We can provide equipment and support to create stunning and inspiring settings at any event.

Piccadilly now has new high resolution outdoor LED Screens, including HD camera systems to capture all the live action. LED technology has improved in quality and reduced in price, now any event can afford large outdoor high brightness screens.

Communications is a key element to the control and safety of any size of event. We have the latest 2 way radios that provide wide coverage and long battery life. We liaise with Ofcom to provide special system frequencies for very large events.

We install temporary Electrical Systems for all types of events, including large generators with online backup for critical situations. Our distribution systems are safety protected and we can test and certify installations to the latest standards.

Our team help many organisations with their corporate Branding and Logistics, integrating our core services with the marketing needs of clients. From simple on-time delivery of branding and merchandise to complex support and logistic services – Piccadilly deliver!

It's just what we do...

NUMBER ONE FOR AV SUPPORT

Providing professional AV support for over 30 years!

Our main focus has been the corporate events market – conferences, presentations and exhibitions. Our list of clients is impressive, as is the range of technical equipment we provide – and we now operate a wide range of high-resolution LED screens for all indoor and outdoor applications.

Our in-house set and stage building department is one of our unique selling points, along with our own fleet of vehicles. This makes us a cost effective turnkey service – indoors or out.

As a mark of our professionalism, we are members of CHAS, the Contractors Health and Safety Scheme. This means our health and safety systems have been assessed and accredited.
